Raising the bar at Penn Manor HS TV

Student-produced newscasts more creative, professional thanks to cameras from PMEF

A $3,000 grant from Penn Manor Education Foundation has helped transform Penn Manor High School TV's morning news program.

Instead of student announcers reading the news in front of a camera, there are interviews with students and staff, highlight reels of Comets sporting events, features on the day's historical events and reviews of the latest movies.

All are filmed, produced and aired by students in and out of the studio using new high-end video equipment purchased with a PMEF Venture Grant.

Teacher Jeff Himes used the funds to buy a Canon XA10 high-definition video camera and a Nikon D7200 SLR still/video camera that opened his Video and TV Production classes to new opportunities.

"It's a huge improvement over what we had before," said Audrey Bublitz, a Penn Manor High School senior who works on audio and interview projects in the class. "The equipment gives us more options, and the finished product doesn't look like we just threw it together."

Himes' Venture Grant was one of 38 funded for Penn Manor teachers and students in the 2016-2017 school year. In all, grants totaled nearly $50,000 and impacted hundreds of students in all 10 Penn Manor schools.

Strong & Healthy grant funds book distribution effort

More than 50 children received 100 new books – and ice cream cones – as part of a new Literacy Outreach designed to keep students interested in reading over the summer.

Funded by a $1,300 grant from Penn Manor Education Foundation, the program also exposed students to the Lancaster County Bookmobile and provided their parents with useful information on community services.

Penn Manor staff members partnered with the county library and the Community Action Partnership to deliver the materials, plus ice cream from the Cruisin' Creamery truck, to residents of the Pheasant Ridge and Manor Heights neighborhoods in May.

"The idea was to just have a fun event

to reach families with young children and provide reading materials over the summer," said Tamara Baker, Conestoga Elementary School principal, who received the grant through PMEF's Strong & Healthy Families initiative.

Each child got two new books. In addition, children at Manor Heights could sign up for a library card and take out books from the Bookmobile, which returned to their neighborhood in the summer.

Under the program, additional books will be donated to the Manor Heights

Two join PMEF board

Kevin Weber brings parent's perspective

Penn Manor parent Kevin Weber of Millersville is one of two new members of the all-volunteer PMEF board of directors.

Kevin and his wife, Emma, have twin daughters, Ellie and Madeleine, who are eighth-graders at Manor Middle School, where they enjoy playing field hockey and lacrosse.

Weber says he decided to join the PMEF board because he was "always impressed by the positive impact and extraordinary contributions achieved by the Education Foundation."

"Then again, I could say that I joined the board because Don Martin (longtime former board member) pestered me with frequent visits to our front door and that I had no other way to make him go away, but that wouldn't be completely accurate," he jokes.

"I was honored to even be considered as a board member and humbled by the professionalism and dedication of the other board members, as well as the generosity of the many PMEF business partners and donors."

Kevin is the middle child of five born and raised in Denville, N.J., "a great little town in North Jersey." He attended King's College in Wilkes-Barre (Class of 1991). After moving to Boston in 1994, Weber landed a sales position with Armstrong World Industries in 1996, transferring to Lancaster for a job in logistics in 1998.

"Soon after moving to Millersville, I joined the borough's park committee and helped to organize local youths in building the skateboard park," he says.

"I have also been involved with numerous motorcycle-related charity projects."

Weber now works for a company selling motorcycle insurance. He's a rider himself and points out that he always wears a helmet.

Weber was inspired to get involved in his community by his parents, Ronald and Betty, who volunteered for numerous organizations in the tight-knit community in which he grew up.

As a PMEF board member, he is "looking forward to learning how the organization accomplishes everything it does for students, families and educators in Penn Manor," Weber says.

"I can only hope that my participation somehow helps to keep the momentum this great organization has created going for many years to come."

Longtime PM teacher, principal returns to serve

Jan Mindish is returning to the board for another term after serving from 2010 to 2016.

A longtime presence at Penn Manor, Jan began her career in 1972 as an elementary art teacher and spent 37 years with the district as an art and photography teacher, assistant principal and 12 years as high school principal, retiring in 2009.

"The opportunity to return to the PMEF board was an easy decision for me."

-- Jan Mindish

"Joining the PMEF board in 2010 provided me with a chance to give back to a school district and community that meant so much to me," she says. "I enjoyed the opportunities this work provided to stay connected with staff, students and the PM community."

Jan, who is from Western Pennsylvania, said she immediately fell in love with this area when she attended Millersville University as an art education major.

During her first terms on the board, Mindish served on the development committee and chaired the marketing and scholarship committees.

After leaving the board, she became more active on the Demuth Foundation board and organized four weeks of summer art camp at the Lancaster Museum of Art. She also continued volunteering with Penn Manor's Twilight Alternative Education Program, working with high school ESL students on art projects, and advising students on writing college essays.

"The opportunity to return to the board was an easy decision for me. I'm proud to be a part of PMEF's efforts to support the wonderful staff and students in Penn Manor."

"Serving on the PMEF board enables me to support teachers' ideas through grants and encourage students to continue their education through scholarships. I am fortunate to be able to endow my own scholarship that will continue to support students long after I'm gone."

Jan Mindish

"My scholarship is just one of 45 funded through PMEF by our amazing community. The financial support of our staff, retirees, businesses and community is the envy of other districts," she says.

It's great to have Jan back!

In Himes' classes, the new equipment isn't just helping students create high-quality material. It's also giving them hands-on experience with camera aperture settings and depth of field, audio settings, film speeds and other technical skills crucial to video production.

"The cameras allow students to focus more on the content of what they are producing because there are fewer technical issues when it comes to image and audio quality," Himes says.

"This gives them the opportunity to be more creative and produce higher quality material."

High school senior Cade Braas sees another advantage to working with more advanced technology in high school. He's hoping the experience gives him a leg up when he enters college next year as a marketing major.

community library.

Baker said she's hopeful the effort helps spark an interest in reading among parents and children, especially those not yet in school.

The Strong & Healthy Families initiative was started last year to assist Penn Manor families in need.

It was a perfect night for dining under the stars at this year's annual dinner.

Drumore Estate hosts annual dinner

Penn Manor teachers provided musical accompaniment prior to dinner.

Guests mingle on the expansive grounds of Drumore Estate in Pequea Township.

Nearly 200 guests attended the Foundation's annual dinner, held for the first time at a new venue, Drumore Estate, in the Penn Manor School District.

The Sept. 17 event, held under sunny skies, included music by Penn Manor teachers, live and silent auctions, the raffle of a handmade quilt made by the Lancaster Modern Quilt Guild and a cash raffle of $3,700.

Guests could stroll the beautiful grounds of the historic estate and enjoy the breathtaking views before and after dinner.

The event raised more than $10,000 for PMEF programs and scholarships.

Many thanks to our event sponsors — PeoplesBank, Good Spirits Lancaster, Special Occasions & Queen Street Linens, and Kegel, Kelin, Almy & Lord — and the staff of Drumore Estate.

It was a great way to gather with friends and supporters to celebrate the Foundation's first 20 years.

We can't wait to see you at next year's dinner!

Join us for an Extraordinary Give Happy Hour at Bert's Bottle Shop

Penn Manor Education Foundation is again participating in the Extraordinary Give, a 24-hour online fundraising marathon, on Friday, November 17.

Last year, our generous donors contributed more than $7,400 to the Foundation during this day-long event – an increase over the previous year.

This year, we will be holding an Extra Give Happy Hour at Bert's Bottle Shop, Lancaster, beginning at 4 p.m. November 17. Participants can make a donation on the spot while enjoying some great beverages and food at this new Penn Manor business.

A $25 contribution can fund library materials to inspire young learners; a $100 gift can help fund a Strong & Healthy Families grant; a $500 gift can pay for a scholarship for a graduating Penn Manor senior. In addition to accepting donations from individuals, PMEF will be eligible for a share of $500,000 in incentive prizes offered to participating Extra Give organizations.

So join the fun November 17 and help make a difference in our community by participating in the Extraordinary Give (www.extragive.org).

Golfers warm up on the Meadia Heights Country Club course.

200-plus turn out for Golf Scramble

Record-setting heat didn't keep our loyal supporters from turning out June 13 for the 11th Annual Charity Golf Scramble, which raised nearly $12,000 for Penn Manor students and families.

More than 100 golfers participated in the daylong outing at Meadia Height Country Club under sunny skies and temperatures that surged to 95 degrees.

Many thanks to our hole, lunch, beverage and prize sponsors, and a special thank you to Meadia Heights for an outstanding lunch and dinner.

Our Legacy Supporters

This is the first in a series of articles about individuals and families who have generously pledged to support the Foundation through Legacy Giving.

Beth and Ted Rosenberg

I spent 35 years as a fourth-grade teacher at Eshleman Elementary. Little did I know when I graduated from college that Eshleman and Penn Manor would become my second home and family.

I can't say enough good things about this extraordinary school district.

It's a district with exceptional students, families, teachers, staff and administrators.

It's a district that has one main focus: helping each student strive to be his or her best.

To help meet that end, Penn Manor Education Foundation is an organization that encourages students and teachers to go above and beyond.

When my husband and I drafted our will, we knew that we wanted to include Penn Manor in some way in gratitude for the wonderful career I enjoyed.

Leaving a legacy donation to PMEF seemed like the perfect fit. We are honored to support the Foundation.
